

Enhance Your Document & Contract Analysis

Lots of Contracts, Less Time

Working with contracts means keeping an eye on the details. However, reading and reviewing many contracts is tedious and time-consuming. If the workload and time pressure grows, the risk of overlooking things in contracts increases – for instance, predefined no-go's. In addition, there may be clauses in your favor missing, that were previously included in other contracts. Complicating matters, the quality varies from employee to employee due to differences in knowledge and experience.

Local and global regulations are subject to constant change. It is important to comply with these regulations and to review existing contracts accordingly. Delays or mistakes can impact sales processes and contract deadlines, or even result in fines. In most cases, the content that needs to be reviewed is similar. Nevertheless, you face the problem that every contract is worded and structured differently, which makes automation impossible. So you think, but no longer – thanks to semantha.

semantha: Contract Analysis Made Easy

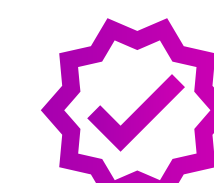

semantha reads and understands large amounts of text in any language, and finds the content you're looking for – no matter how it's worded. What you need several hours for, semantha can do in a few seconds thanks to artificial intelligence – and with no training needed.

This enables the software to support your work with a variety of functions – whether in the initiation of new contracts by checking relevant contents and comparing them to old contracts, or in searching your existing contracts for relevant topics and contents.

Save an average of 40% time in reviewing contracts.

Minimize potential risks and improve contract compliance.

Create a uniform knowledge base for all employees.

Save costs by processing contracts faster.